Factsheet 30th September 2021

Market & Portfolio Developments

Market Review

Market participants found all sorts of reasons to explain the September selloff: Evergrande, Supply chain, Debt ceiling and so on. Most major markets sold off in sentiment, particularly interest-rate sensitive areas such as growth and tech. Global equities ended the month down -4.13%.

Main Contributors 'What did well?'

Notably, our China 'A' equity position saw strong gains in spite of the ongoing concerns on regulatory clampdown, showing how differentiated positions take turns to perform. Our US Small-cap allocation also performed better than the US S&P 500, which was dragged down by pricey mega-cap tech names.

Main Detractors 'What underperformed?'

After months of more stable performance, our Healthcare position was also not spared in the broad sell-off. We continue to maintain the Healthcare allocation as part of our Stability theme in a VUCA environment.

Portfolio Activity

Amid market volatility, the focus was on maintaining the integrity of our portfolio allocations

Market Outlook

The past few months is a reminder that markets remain uncertain and volatile, especially as economies transition from recession to recovery to expansion. In such an environment, we continue to stick to our FVT process to invest in opportunities where the risk/reward is skewed in our favour – this has helped with performance over the past month. We also continue to emphasize effective diversification, by having differentiated positions in our portfolios that takes turn to perform and complementing each other.
